

Central Coast Citizenship Project

The Central Coast Citizenship Project provides immigration, naturalization, literacy, English language and new voter education integrated with leadership development in campaigns for social justice.

The Citizenship Project provides organizational support to a network of self-governed grassroots groups that have developed through our organizing campaigns.

More recently in response to growing interest in this agenda we provide technical assistance to other community organizations interested in developing similar projects.

Over the years, the Citizenship Project has recruited, trained, and mobilized well over 2,000 immigrant community volunteers to help over 20,000 people become U.S. citizens and over 10,000 register to vote.

School

Our mission at our Adult School is to teach our students that citizenship is not just papers. Citizenship signifies the civic participation in the community and to get involved in public issues, defending citizen rights before and after becoming a U.S. citizen. Our vision is to create community leaders to go and hold public offices, get better jobs, and voice their concerns about educational, political, and community needs.

U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services

Immigration Services

The Project provides low cost help with citizenship and immigration filing, voter registration, naturalization assistance, consular inquiries, replacement green cards, relative visa petitions, adjustment of status, and temporary permit assistance.

MENTAL HEALTH & SOCIETY

Mental Health

The Citizenship Project provides health education and facilitates access to mental health services free of charge for un-served Latino adults, children and families throughout the county.
